Public transportation is available from the airport to Doha . As for Qatar Airways and Hamad International Airport in Qatar, 15 years ago ! Captain Qegani, was in London was flying one of his very first flights from here to Heathrow in January 1999. ‘Back then, as we are now, the traffic was nightmare!’ The sole civil aviation authority in Qatar is the Qatar Civil Aviation Authority (QCAA) . The Qatari Government plans to invest $4.5 billion in the development of Doha's Hamad International Airport. Qatar's state-owned airline, Qatar Airways, is planning to move its headquarter from The main gates of Hamad International Airport are open and tickets are also available online and through the airlines office in Terminals 2 or 3. Upcoming services are Qatar Airways service to Seoul starting May 10, 2014! And Qatar Airways service to Kuwait starting May 10, 2014!. The current masterplan was designed by Ramboll, an international consultancy specializing in aerospace, land, maritime and environmental projects. Among their more recent developments are the Beijing Olympic stadium, City Place, F1 Shanghai Circuit, HSBC Arena, and the new Jumeirah Garden hotel at the heart of the Concourses A and D at Hamad International Airport are fully operational, and are awaiting the arrival of the final few aircraft. This new Doha International Airport will be the world's third-largest, in terms of square footage, reaching 1.5 million square feet, and will be able to accommodate up to 42 million passengers a year ! Last year Qatar Airways placed a €350 million order with EADS, the parent company of Airbus, and will be installing approximately 100 aircraft . Doha International Airport's new $4.5 billion terminal will feature the world's first fully automated check-in system and a number of other firsts . The new Doha International Airport, scheduled to open in late 2013, will have two full-length concourses and a second passenger terminal, T2. The terminal will be built on the site of the old terminal's terminus, and will
