For example, if a website (specifically, ebay) has some data that I want to work with, the easiest way to access it is through the API (Is there a way in julia to request it through the API? A: Yes, I see that there is something called ejlibs.org (which I had never heard of) to provide APIs via JIT. But how do you want to access the data? Some of them are "publicly readable" (meaning you can download the JSON or XML and from there pull out of the data you need). Maybe the ones you have found were in JSON format, but sometimes you can just take data from an RSS feed. A community-based cohort study of survivors of cancer presenting with weight loss and dyspnea. To date, no previous studies have prospectively investigated weight loss and breathlessness in association with the outcomes of cancer treatment. The objectives of this study were (1) to determine the frequency and the time course of weight loss and breathlessness in a cohort of survivors of cancer and (2) to assess the factors that are associated with the occurrence of weight loss and breathlessness in survivors of cancer who are presenting with these symptoms. Prospective cohort study. The study population included 95 survivors of cancer with weight loss and/or breathlessness. Weight loss and breathlessness were assessed 1, 2,
