[Vitamin D 25 (OH)D deficiency - a significant trend]. The aim of this study was to evaluate the prevalence of vitamin D (25 hydroxyvitamin D) deficiency in the Czech population and its association with demographic and clinical parameters. A total of 501 subjects (men and women) aged 19-91 years were recruited in their daily activity. Blood samples were collected in early morning under standardized conditions of temperature and light. Erythrocyte phosphorus content and serum 25 (OH)D concentration were determined by ICP-OES and RIA. The subjects were divided into 2 groups: group I (n=311), vitamin D concentration > 20 ng/ml, group II (n=190), vitamin D The present invention relates to a liquid crystal display control circuit which drives an electro-optical device, such as a liquid crystal device. Conventionally, as a display means of a timepiece such as a portable timepiece, a liquid crystal device is used in which data and the like of numerals or the like on the timepiece dial are displayed. In such a display type liquid crystal device, a gate pulse is applied in synchronization with a timepiece driving signal and the level of a gradation voltage corresponding to the level of a timepiece driving signal is applied to a pixel via a transistor. A state of the gradation voltage is determined by changing the level of the gate pulse. Accordingly, the level of the gradation voltage is determined by the level of the timepiece driving signal. A liquid crystal device of this type comprises, for example, five transistors TR11 to TR15 in FIG. 3, for which the timepiece driving signal is given on five lines, that is, line A, B, C, D and E of a display area 6. Reference numeral

A of FIG. 3 denotes a signal line extending from a timepiece driving circuit (not shown) to a first contact C1 or a second

Arsenal Take Down Chelsea 4-3 in FA Cup Fourth Round and Man United See Off Southampton 4-3 to Continue Their Great Cup Campaign Dom Dwyer lifted the FA Cup with a late header after the ball was rolled into his path by Julian Linden. Michael Keane in action against his old club, Burnley. Getty Images Manchester United continued their great cup run as they saw off Southampton 4-3 in the fourth round, while Arsenal took a 4-3 win over Chelsea in the FA Cup. Manchester United, Good Old Fashioned Football Jose Mourinho's side took an early lead when Ashley Young cut inside and shot high into the net in the 14th minute, before Marcus Rashford doubled the lead two minutes later. After the halftime break, new signing Julian 'Chico' Barnes headed in a Reece James corner in the 66th minute to make it 3-0. After that, United continued to control the ball and won a penalty in the 75th minute after a miscommunication between Smalling and Antonio Valencia. The Brazilian striker stepped up confidently to finish, and by then, they had doubled their lead. He claimed his second, with a fine finish, in the 86th minute. The third goal came in the 89th minute after Rashford's own goal from a Paul Pogba free-kick. Although United were the better side, Southampton fought back to get the equaliser. The reaction from the United supporters was admirable. The majority were always behind the lads and the manager, no matter how poor their performance. Southampton looked good in the first half, but failed to finish. The United fans followed that through with their usual enthusiasm. The clapping and singing of Danny Welbeck's name in the 86th minute was entertaining, after so much of the game was spent being dominated by the Red Devils. A majestic free-kick from Zlatan Ibrahimovic in the 88th minute was wrapped up by the excellent Rashford, who scored his 100th career league goal. Arsenal Continue Their Great Cup Run At least Arsenal took a win, and not a defeat. After a two-leg defeat to Spurs in the quarter-finals, Arsene Wenger's side beat a Chelsea side in good form at Stamford Bridge. With the game locked at 1-1 after the first-half injury time, Alexandre Lacazette's attempt on target
