What's new in Fifa 22:

- A new story mode, Career, including a Player Career mode that lets you play in each of your clubs at the same time as your Manager Career mode.
- FIFA 22 introduces Hyper Motion Technology, a physics engine that lets the ball behave in a realistic way – it now kicks, slides and bounces in a way that you’ve never experienced before, opening up a wide array of possibilities in gameplay.
- Air passing has never been easier, with the ability to now use the gamepad during shooting and near post passing.
- FIFA 22 also introduces a new ball physics system.
- New kits, stadiums, goalkeepers, and new filters and visuals for ultimate customization.

Action

- One new ball physics system lets the ball perform in ways never before possible, with different effects including “bouncy slipstreaming” that takes the ball in strange new directions. And it lets you change the direction a ball bounces off the ground simply by pressing on the ball as it’s about to hit the ground – in FIFA 22, balls bounce and slide in a variety of different ways that creates unrivaled play dynamics.
- We’ve completely overhauled our animations, including the goalkeepers using new artificial intelligence that reacts to shots and players, showing exactly the right reactions at the right times.
- FIFA 22’s Physically Based Normal Matchday Weather also brings a tangible, realistic feel to the atmosphere of your matches. Weather effects like heavy rain and fog lift the mood, while humidity can really slow down play.
- The execution of attacks has been improved, with new strike and pass animations that bring a new level of timing to your finishing moves. And we’ve also worked closely with real-world sports scientists to improve the player’s recovery from injuries – in particular, more aggressive recoveries from tackles and more intense recoveries from headers.
