Field of the Invention The present invention generally relates to a semiconductor laser device and an optical pickup device. More specifically, the present invention relates to a semiconductor laser device whose transverse mode is stabilized, and an optical pickup device including the semiconductor laser device. Recently, video disks having higher density, such as DVDs (Digital Versatile Disks), are available in the market. For example, video disks having a capacity of 4.7 GB (gigabytes) are available in the market. In DVD drive units for reproducing such video disks, semiconductor laser devices, typically, a main emission laser device and a pumping laser device, are used. Each of the semiconductor laser devices has a main junction and a pumping junction. In the main emission laser device, the pumping junction is arranged on the optical path of the main emission laser beam. In the pumping laser device, the main junction is arranged on the optical path of the pumping laser beam.
