In every battle, you must play for 5 minutes. During this time, you will be expected to wipe the floor with your opponent. If you can't or won't wipe the floor, your opponent will win. 2. What's new:

Lands Off the Oregon Coast Back in 2005 the West Coast Patriots completed a massive raid on the anti-American, Soros-backed law firms of Huffman & Brobeck, Haskell Weill and Weil Gotshal. We documented the raid along with other info about Galleon, which is the fund that went bad. They were forcing Weil Gotshal to sign agreements to allocate some of their fund to the Patriot Leagues for health care, social issues, etc. That New York-based law firm is now cooperating with the DOJ, and others are going to be getting dragged in for a trial of sorts. The Times reports: Federal prosecutors say they are preparing to file charges in a case that involves a fund set up by a cooperative of more than two dozen American law firms to help businesses post offshore. The fund, known as the Galleon Group, was used to market individual stocks and funds in illegal and illicit schemes that were uncovered last year by a unit of the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York, the Justice Department said on Monday. The court papers describe a widespread scheme, involving a dozen of New York-based law firms, to take down a hedge fund manager who has been an outspoken critic of offshore tax schemes, and a perennial target of the highly secretive Galleon fund. The people behind Galleon, Brad M. Bird and Peter J. McCarthy, were well-known and well-liked among the Irish-American stock-trading crowd in the late 1990's. Galleon managed more than $100 million and had greater than 10 employees. The NY law firms raided are Weil, Gotshal, Dershowitz & Eiger, and Wilmer Cutler. Counter Intelligence Program? The man who ran the operation on the government's behalf is identified as Alex M. Ross, the head of CENF at the time. He is now a senior special adviser to Citigroup, and was the head of Credit Suisse at the time in question. His current title at Citigroup is Senior Managing Director, Strategy. It's also interesting that ABC News describes the Galleon firm as being "a cooperative of more than two dozen American law firms." Remember how the mainstream media never questions the apparent lack of logic behind 911. They were both wars and both were geo-strategic. So, it's a cooperative? So the next step is for President
