TubeDigger Review: The sole thing you need to do is to grab the link where the video you want to download is accessible. Then, you just need to fill up the basic details about the video and send them over. The software will start downloading the video for you, and when it's over, you'll get the audio stream in a WAVE or MP3 file format. The free version of TubeDigger offers seven skins, but you can change them through a download link. The only exception is the Time mode, which you can't modify at all. If you want more skins, you need to register and pay a small fee. The quality of the downloaded files is poor. They take ages to download and they're far from being good quality. If you intend to be a video downloader, you can get TubeDigger for free, but you need to have the aa67ecbc25
