At Liquor and Cannabis, we know that a liquor license can make or break your business. That's why we've assembled the most comprehensive liquor license resource center, where you can find answers to questions, industry news, and more. Whether you're looking to become a restaurant, a distillery, or own a retailer, you'll find the essential information and resources you need right here, at www.liquorandcannabis.com. Overall, the serving it right program has been very effective at reducing the harm associated with drinking. The annual surveys show serving increases in the mandatory service program have been closely aligned with the decline in the overall number of injuries and deaths. The Serving It Right program has not been without its problems. Although serving of beer and wine has increased under the mandatory service program, wine sales have dropped in BC's Liquor Stores. Lack of public awareness about the harms of alcohol and alcohol marketing by publicans, such as selling 3.2% beer, are two of the reasons for this. Poverty, lack of education, and lack of social networks are the leading risk factors for people who are incarcerated and the community. The benefits of the Serving It Right program in this regard are clear and large. Some new serving ideas include passing a tray to customers, training servers to drink slowly, and encouraging servers to ask about personal information, to include who they are and what they like to drink. The Serving It Right program also has clearly defined positive management policies such as having the servers wear name tags, providing group bibles, and the mandatory service program is easy to use for the restaurants and bars. A large number of the benefits of the Serving it Right program is due to these clear and positive policies.
