If there are more than 50 unordered select chains, in term of masternode bandwidth consumption, there will be least 1 ordered chain if they cannot connect to to any drop-seller via unordered selected chains. If there are more than 50 ordered chains, in term of masternode bandwidth consumption, there will be more than 1 ordered chain because they will constantly poll to drop-sellers with unordered selected chains. The rule of @PRONORM is that there should be at least 50 ordered/unordered to drop-sellers but in reality, it is not about 50 unordered but it is about 50 ordered which includes unordered selected chains, ordered selected chains and ordered normal chains f988f36e3a
